Victory Over Disease.

A FEW FACTS WORTH READING.

In the latter part of Winter and Spring, in this rigorous and changeable climate, most people not endowed with strong, vigorous constitutions need a RELIABLE, INVIGORATING, TONIC and BLOOD PURIFIER to help them over the changes they have been obliged to undergo.

BELL'S SARSAPARILLA

is just the medicine they need. It will cure all Humors, from a common eruption to the worst scrofula. For Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Indigestion it is an unfailing specific. Read the following unsolicited testimonials:

TESTIMONIALS.

From S. F. Cobb, the Well Known Piano Tuner.

"Yes, Bell's Sarsaparilla is a valuable Medicine. I have taken several bottles of it for a weak, debilitated feeling, poor appetite, headache, etc., and it cured me. Made me feel strong and well. I heartily recommend it."
S. F. COBB, Bangor, Me.
Jan., '85.

What Only a Sterling Blood Medicine Could Do.

"Bell's Sarsaparilla has cured two severe abscesses on my leg, caused by swelling varicose veins, from which I suffered a long time. It has also greatly improved my general health. I shall always recommend it."
W. B. [illegible], Bangor, Me.
Jan., '85.

What Money Would Not Do.

"When I began taking Bell's Sarsaparilla I had had for a long time a severe lameness, soreness, and pain in my left side. I was also troubled greatly with Humors and Indigestion. The medicine has cured me. Money could not induce me to be placed back where I was before taking it. I used six bottles."
Bradford, Jan., 1885. A. D. M. [illegible]

No Other Medicine Like It.

"This may certify that I have suffered for several years from extreme nervousness, dizziness and palpitation of the heart, etc. I have found great relief in taking Bell's Sarsaparilla. I have found no other medicine to work so wonderfully. I cheerfully recommend it to all similarly afflicted.
MRS. E. W. [illegible],

STATE NEWS.

Cumberland.

Edmund B. Mallett, Esq., of Freeport, by the death of an uncle, resident of New York, has been left over $500,000.

Mr. A. M. Sawyer, of Portland, has received a letter from the Department Commander of New Jersey, saying that he will attend the National Encampment. He will be accompanied by his staff and between 400 and 500 men.

The Argus says: "There was a woodpecker in the garden of George H. Holden, Tuesday. After hunting the trees he came down and fed on bread which had been thrown out for the sparrows. A speckled woodpecker, not a grosbeck."

The telegram respecting the declination of the presidency of Bowdoin by Prof. Hardy, of Dartmouth, is without foundation. We are authorized to state that his name has never been before the committee for selecting a candidate, says the Bowdoin Orient.

Mr. W. S. Kyle, commercial traveler of the firm of J. W. Perkins, of Portland, nearly perished last Wednesday week, from exposure, on the road to Liberty during the storm. His team got stuck in a drift and Mr. Kyle became exhausted and nearly unconscious, but making a final effort reached the house of a Mr. Moody, where he was kindly cared for.

The four-masted schooner C. B. Church, which arrived in Portland recently from Baltimore, with coal for the Boston and Maine railroad, broke away from her fastenings near Portland bridge, in the gale, Monday night, and dragged against the draw, smashing the schooner's long boat and tearing away about fifty feet of the bridge railing, ripping up several planks, etc., causing suspension of travel over the bridge for about an hour.

Arguments in the case of State vs. Simpson and State vs. Merrow have been concluded at Bridgton, C. A. Chaplain, Esq., leading for Merrow. Judge Walker followed in behalf of Simpson and George H. Wescott, Esq., closed. The court passed no sentence but ordered both parties to give bail in $300 each with sureties for appearance at Portland at the May term of the Superior Court. John Simpson found bail and was discharged from arrest. Merrow failed to get bail and is now in Portland jail.

Franklin.

Huse & Sons' new variety turning manufactory, at Farmington, is so nearly completed that machinery has been put in and work has been begun on a large contract of shovels. In the spring Mr. L. W. Trask purposes to erect a manufactory for making salt boxes. It will be located as an addition to Huse & Sons' building, and will be the third factory established in this place within a year and a half. Mr. Geo. W. Ranger has just put new machinery into his saw mill, where he is cutting lumber to be made into bat sticks by J. W. Parker & Son. Besides all this it is proposed that the town shall be furnished with a fine system of water works the coming season, and a movement is taking definite shape for the purchase of the old Court House, to be removed from its present site, renovated and remodeled into town buildings. This with the new county buildings assured for next year, together with the erection of new private residences, go to prove that Farmington's era of prosperity is just beginning to dawn.

Kennebec.

A Lodge of Knights of Pythias will probably soon be instituted at Hallowell, twenty names having been obtained to the application for a charter.

Tuesday, the Executive Council considered the petition for the pardon of Joseph Rawley, in Belfast jail, for larceny, and tabled it. Last August the council granted a pardon to a man of the same name in the same jail for a like offense. They regard it as a somewhat singular coincidence.

Robert Conforth, Esq., one of the best citizens of Oakland, died very suddenly last Sabbath. He and his daughter resided in a house alone, and the latter went to church as usual in the forenoon. On her return she found her father dead, having evidently breathed his last shortly after her departure from the house.

Messrs. Hewins & Lyon are actively engaged in sawing lumber at the "Widow" Sanford's place in Manchester. They are now filling a contract for 50,000 feet of oak car timber, to be delivered in Waterville. They have some 200,000 of pine lumber sawed and piled, and propose to cut as much more. They employ a portable saw mill which turns out some 10,000 feet per day.

A comparison of the occupations represented in the present legislature with those of the legislature of 1855, reveals some differences. With the same number in each branch, there were, in the Senate, 11 farmers to 1 at present; 7 lawyers to 8 now; 4 merchants to 3 now. Among the representatives were 72 farmers against 36 in the present House; 7 lawyers to 15 now; 23 merchants to 10 now; 9 lumbermen to 3 now; 3 master mariners, the same as at present.

The Democrat mentions the existence of an old document—the act approved March 3, 1815, "to Incorporate the Proprietors of the Fryeburg Canal," * * * "for the purpose of opening a new channel for Saco River, within the town of Fryeburg."

Miss Lydia Ann Tufts, living at Dickvale, Peru, was severely if not fatally burned while lighting the fire, Saturday morning. Her clothing took fire from a sudden puff of flame, and in a moment she was enveloped in flames. Her father, Mr. John Tufts, was the only other person present and he was in bed, too feeble to render the least assistance. Mr. Eastman, who a few days before had moved to the house came in, but had to return to his part of the house for water. The woman was fearfully burned about the chest, arms and head. The Canton Telephone says she is perfectly rational and suffers but little pain owing doubtless to the fact that the nerves are burned beyond sensibility.

The next term of court for Oxford county promises more criminal business than any term for many years. The jail, which had no tenants from March last to December, is now full. The three men arrested at Brunswick, charged with robbery at Norway, have exhausted all their ingenuity in endeavors to escape. They have dug the cement out from between two of the stones in the granite walls that are fifteen inches thick. One who was confined in an upper cell was found to have sawed off a timber over his cell, so that he could have escaped in a short time if the matter had not been discovered. Another recent prisoner is one Packard, of North Paris, who was indicted for stealing chairs three years ago. He left the State and professed to reform. Last week he returned and on Sunday preached at South Paris. Curiously enough, some children at play in the house where he formerly resided came across forty-one more chair seats, and on Monday a capias was issued and he is now in jail.

Waldo.

David Porter Gilmore, died suddenly at his home in Belfast, on Monday morning, of apoplexy. He was well until Sunday evening when he was taken ill by vomiting. He became unconscious at ten o'clock and did not speak after that time. When the doctor arrived at eight o'clock Monday morning he found the man cold and nearly dead. Mr. Gilmore was the son of David Gilmore, who lives on the east side. His age was about forty-four years. He leaves a wife and three small children.

Angel Lennan died at Grand Falls, N. B., on Tuesday Feb. 10, aged 83 years, one month and three days. Mr. Lennan was born in Searsmont. He came to Belfast in 1845 and was deputy collector of customs. In 1850, Mr. Lennan went to Castine to reside and subsequently to Bangor where he has since lived. While in Belfast he was a prominent mason, and after going to Castine he became a petitioner for the restoration of Hancock Lodge. Mr. Lennan was well known in Belfast and many of our older citizens will learn of his death with regret.—Belfast Journal.

Belfast gentlemen are interested in the scheme to make a summer resort of Cape Jellison, says the Belfast Age. Cape Jellison Land Improvement Company holds and controls about 350 acres of land which includes the Cape. It is divided into lots of 6,000 square feet each, and will comprise more than 2,000 lots, over one hundred of which have been sold the past year, mostly to New York bankers. A large number of expensive cottages, it is stated will be erected there next summer, and the fine hotel will be put in first-class order.

York.

The schooner Charles H. Haskell, of New York, arrived in that city on Friday last, from York, with a cargo of ice for the Brooklyn Ice Company. She was coated thick in ice from the water line to the tops of the spars. Much of her canvas was gone or hung in frozen shreds from the rigging. Frank Hueyse, seventeen years old, one of the crew, was washed overboard and was drowned on the passage.

Estate of F. Shaw & Bros.

FINAL DECREE OF JUDGE BROOKS, ALLOWING A DIVIDEND OF 30 PER CENT.

In the case of F. Shaw & Bros., the final meeting in the composition proceedings in the above matter was held at East Cambridge, Wednesday. Mr. Ferdinand A. Wyman was appointed assignee. By a recent decree of court, all claims not proven Wednesday are not to share in dividends, and notice to that effect was sent a week ago to all creditors whose claims are unproven. Claims to the amount of $2[illegible]1,076.99 were proven, making the total amount proven to date nearly $4,200,[illegible]. This leaves claims to the amount of $350,[illegible] unproven; of these, about $110,000 are to receive their dividends under the decree of the supreme court, and most of the remainder are attaching creditors in other States and the Provinces who would not join in the settlement made with other attaching creditors. These attaching creditors must now rely entirely upon their attachments, and if they fail, they will get no dividend at all. The amount of claims settled by Mr. Wyman, most of which were attachments, amounts to about $1,[illegible]. There was, furthermore, indebtedness of about $1,000,000 at the time of the failure, which has since been paid by other parties upon the paper, making the original indebtedness about $7,0[illegible]. The full text of Judge Brooks' decree is as follows:

In the matter of Fayette Shaw and Brackley Shaw, No. 1,503, and in the matter of Charles F. Perry and others against Fayette Shaw and Brackley Shaw, No. 1,172 insolvent debtors.

1. The above causes having been fully heard upon the offer of composition filed therein by the debtors, Fayette Shaw and Brackley Shaw, and upon proceedings duly had thereon from time to time, in accordance with the law and the statutes of this commonwealth, and it appearing that the requisite proportion in number and value of the creditors of said debtors have proven their claims and assented in writing to said composition, in accordance with law, and all the formalities and requirements of law having been met and complied with, it appears and I find that said composition has been duly assented to and is consistent with justice and for the interest of the creditors, and it is thereupon and hereby ordered, adjudged and decreed, that the composition offered by said debtors be and hereby is confirmed.

2. It is further ordered that within 10 days from the entry of this decree the sum of $1,210,000 be paid into this court by the debtors, or some one in their behalf, as a dividend of 30 per cent. to all the joint creditors of said Fayette Shaw and Brackley Shaw who have proven their claims in this cause. That is, the creditors of F. Shaw & Bros. and F. Shaw & Bros. of Vanceboro, who have proven in this cause, and whose claims have been allowed, and as payment for the costs and expenses of the register in this cause.

3. It is further ordered that the register shall forthwith, after the payment or deposit of money as aforesaid, or as soon as may conveniently be thereafter, pay said dividends severally to the creditors whose claims have been proven and allowed in this court, upon their claims as proven and allowed.

4. When the moneys, according to the above order, shall have been duly deposited, and the register shall certify the same to the court, a discharge shall thereupon be granted to the debtors according to law, from all their joint debts; that is, from all their indebtedness as copartners in the several firms and joint accounts of which they, or either of them, are members. And thereupon all the joint property of the said debtors, and their joint interest in any property in which they have any interest with others, excepting the moneys so deposited as aforesaid, shall revert to and be revested in them, according to their respective interests or assigns.

5. The assignee appointed by this court is directed forthwith to release all his interest in the property and rights of property to be sold and conveyed by Ferdinand A. Wyman, trustee, under decree of the supreme judicial court, a copy whereof is hereto annexed, marked exhibit "A" to the party to whom said Wyman is to convey; and said assignee is further directed to release to said debtors and their assigns all other joint property of said debtors, and their joint interest in any property in which they have any interest with others, according to item four of this decree, except the moneys deposited in court, according to the decree, when the money is so deposited in this court.

6. If, upon payment of the dividends and register's costs and expenses, as aforesaid, any balance remains of the sum above ordered to be deposited in this court, such balance shall be returned by the register to the debtors or their assigns.

The parties who are to furnish the money were present in court, and stated that the money was all ready to be deposited according to the decree. The deposit will probably be made within a very few days, and by the terms of the offer and order of court, must be made within ten days, whereupon the dividends will be immediately paid, and this great case will be wound up to the satisfaction, upon the whole, of all parties. This cause has been prolific of more litigation than any failure which has taken place in the United States, but, as the large interests have endeavored to harmonize and settle the litigation, rather than encourage it, a result has been reached which for a long time seemed impossible. One of the most eminent lawyers in New England says the Shaw case offered more than twenty times the possibility for litigation that the Sprague case did, and yet the latter estate was consumed by litigation.

The Immigration of 1884.

GERMANY LEADS ALL OTHER COUNTRIES IN THE NUMBER OF PEOPLE COMING HITHER

The annual report of the New York Commissioners of Emigration was sent to the Legislature Tuesday. The report shows that during the year 1884, 38[illegible],522 passengers were landed at Castle Garden from foreign ports, a decrease of 6[illegible],070 from last year. Of this number 330,030 were aliens and 55,5[illegible]2 were citizens or had previously visited this country. Of the aliens the largest number from one country came from Germany, viz, 111,322. From Ireland came 39,966; England, 32,056; Sweden, 16,722; Norway, 9,042; Italy, 11,076; Russia, 12,132; Switzerland, 1,237; Denmark, 7,100; Bohemia, 7,[illegible]; Netherlands, 3,029; Scotland, 6,872, Austria, 3,731, Wales, 1,776; France, 3,[illegible]; Hungary, 15,797; Luxemburg, 242; Belgium, 1,07[illegible]; Spain, 962; Turkey, 72, and 3,[illegible] from various foreign points.

New York State received 111,472 of the aliens, more than three times the number of any other State, and more than any other five States. Pennsylvania received the next largest number, namely, 3[illegible],992. Of the whole number of immigrants landed at the Garden 23,0[illegible] were met there by their friends, 130 lone children were forwarded to their parents or friends, while 536 husbands met their wives there and 494 parents their children. The emigrant boarding houses near the Garden lodged 11,583 immigrants during the year.

At the Emigrant Refuge and Hospitals on Ward's Island there were [illegible] inmates on Jan. 1, 1884; 3,[illegible] persons were admitted during the year and 118 children were born on the Island, making a total of [illegible] persons cared for. There were on Jan. 1 this year 434 inmates of the asylum, 3,234 persons having been discharged, while 188 died during the year.

The financial report shows that on Jan. 1, 1884, there was $7,[illegible] in the treasury of the Board. The receipts during the year amounted to $187,9[illegible],28, making a total of $195,116.20. Of this sum $181,118.18 was disbursed, leaving a balance of $13,[illegible]7 72 in the treasury on December 31 last.

There were returned by the Board to the ports whence they came, 1,144 immigrants for cause, as follows: Sixty-three were insane, four blind, five deaf and dumb, twenty-one cripples, one hundred and three were [illegible], seventy-three were incapacitated from supporting themselves by reason of old age, and eight hundred and seventy-five were from sickness or destitution unable to maintain themselves."

The President's Mail.

PECULIAR EFFUSIONS OF CRANKS, BEGGARS AND AUTOGRAPH HUNTERS.

A number of letters were loosely scattered over Private Secretary Phillips' desk at the executive mansion to-day, writes a Washington correspondent. Across the face of several the word "auto" was written in blue pencil.

"Do you understand the significance of that?" queried Mr. Phillips of the correspondent.

The latter replied that he did not.

"It means," continued Mr. Phillips, "that these letters are requests for the President's autograph. They are filed away by themselves, and at the proper time answered."

"Does the President always comply with these requests?"

"Invariably. He makes it an inflexible rule to answer every letter addressed to him."

"I should think he would find it a great task."

"Well, I suppose it is; but he doesn't like to seem churlish about so small a matter, and for that reason is willing to put himself to some inconvenience."

"Do you receive many such applications?"

"A great many. Sometimes 20 a day."

"I should think your mail would contain some very funny effusions."

"Yes, probably more than you would imagine. People the President never heard of write him all sorts of begging letters. Here, for illustration, is a letter from one of your Chicago cranks. I won't show you his name, but this is what he writes:

"Honored Sir: I have an opportunity of investing $5,000 in such a manner that it will yield an income of $1,500 a year. I see by the newspapers that your annual income is $50,000. You would not miss the $5,000. Please send me a check for the amount, and oblige."

"The penmanship was good and the orthography perfect. The writer was evidently a man of education.

"A few weeks ago," continued Mr. Phillips, "we received a letter from an old lady in Schenectady, N. Y. She said she had been an invalid for years, and during that time had taken every nostrum known to the world of patent medicines. Her last purchase was not satisfactory, and she has reason to believe that the pills contained poison. She therefore inclosed a couple to the President for him to analyze."

"Do you receive many threatening letters?"

"Very few at present. But during the first year of the President's administration they were very plentiful. I gave orders to have them destroyed as soon as their contents became known. I doubt if the President ever saw one of them."

"Is it true that the President is going to Europe at the close of his official term?"

"I can't say. I don't believe he knows himself. He will probably go up into the Adirondacks for a few weeks' fishing, and arrange his future movements after that. It is very likely that he will settle down in New York and resume his practice of law again."

A THRILLING STORY.

As Told by a Merchant in Troy, N. Y.—A Surgical Operation Avoided—How a Father, Wife and Daughter Escaped an Awful Doom.

Of the hundreds of thousands of remarkable cures wrought by DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, none have appeared so purely astonishing as the following. The persons are noted and among the most highly respected in the city of Troy, and the story as told by the father will prove interesting to all our readers.—Ed.

Troy, N. Y.

Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

Dear Sir: My daughter was afflicted with a severe growth of Fungus. To remove it we had resorted to almost every remedy and consulted the most prominent surgeons and physicians. Dr. [illegible], of Troy, said that a surgical operation would be necessary, but fearing fatal results I hesitated. Some of the physicians claimed that it was caused by one thing and some by another. The Fungus was prominent, with malignant tendencies. Having heard of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy working so thoroughly on the blood I determined to try it, to see if this medicine could do what doctors had failed to do and surgeons had finally refused to undertake. I can say in truth that the result of this trial was the complete cure of my daughter of this dreadful malady. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy alone effected it. We used nothing else, for other things had completely failed. My daughter today enjoys vigorous health and to Favorite Remedy alone is the credit due. My wife also was very poor in health, due to some liver difficulty with which she had suffered a long time until she became very much reduced in flesh. A trial of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has resulted in the complete restoration of her health, which she had not enjoyed for years. She has gained in flesh and strength, and thus secured perfect health, and this is due entirely to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. As for myself, being engaged in the grocery and commission business, which makes it necessary for me to test the quality of different articles, like butter, etc., my sense of taste and my stomach were seriously injured. Everything seemed to nauseate me, and fearful of dyspepsia in its most severe form, I tried Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The first bottle afforded immediate relief, and from that day to this I can say that Favorite Remedy has restored me to perfect health. These are facts which I claim prove that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best medicine in the world for those afflicted with the above difficulties. If any one in the city of Troy doubts the truth of these statements, let him come to me and I will prove them. I have recommended Favorite Remedy to hundreds and with the same good results. Yours, etc.,

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Whig and Courier."

SATURDAY, FEB. 14, 1885.

Houlton proposes to protect itself against fires in the future. A special town meeting was held yesterday at which it was voted to build the necessary water works.

The Democratic statesmen have not yet succeeded in giving Mr. Cleveland all the advice they think he needs and are therefore anxious that he shall visit Washington next week.

A Southern paper complains that nearly all the money appropriated for pensions goes to the North. Strange that the Government should recognize patriots rather than traitors.

The scheme to gerrymander Indiana so as to make ten solid Democratic Congressional Districts is still quietly discussed, and, unless the Democrats begin to quarrel among themselves over the matter, it will doubtless be carried out.

Henry Ward Beecher was advertised to lecture in New York, Wednesday evening on "The Moral Uses of Art and Beauty." Less than one hundred persons assembled, and Mr. Beecher told them that they could have their money back as he would not lecture.

There has been no end to what the Democratic papers have said concerning the robberies committed by the "Carpet-bag" State Governments in the South. It turns out now that the officials in Kentucky, where a Carpet bagger never held office, have robbed the State of about $2,000,000. That is a specimen of Democratic honesty.

The report is again started that Justice Bradley, of the United States Supreme Court, intends to resign. Justice Bradley said to a newspaper correspondent: "You can say upon my authority that the report is unfounded. It is mere bosh. I have never spoken to anybody on the subject. I have no intention of resigning."

It is reported that the Democrats are alarmed at the statement that Mr. Cleveland favors a suspension of silver coinage and will forward him a letter by a Congressional Committee asking him to suspend judgment until he has given the matter more consideration. The letter says that three-fourths of the Democratic party favor the coinage of silver.

Had anything been wanting to prove the reckless and desperate character of the men who, as socialistic leaders, propose to regulate the affairs of mankind, the position taken by Justus Schwab in the Police Court in New York on Tuesday would supply it. Refusing to be sworn on the ground that he has no faith in a Supreme Being, this turbulent person expected that his "honor" would be taken as sufficient pledge of verity in his own defence. He is probably a fair type of his class, and that is sufficient condemnation for the rest.

Last week Speaker Hamlin introduced in the House a resolution in favor of placing Gen. Grant upon the retired list, a report of the proceedings appearing in the Whig at the time. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Gen. Grant, accompanied by a note from Speaker Hamlin, which has elicited the following reply:

NEW YORK, Feb. 10, 1885.

Hon. Charles Hamlin:

DEAR SIR—Your letter of the 7th inst. is before me. The action taken by the House of Representatives, in the Maine Legislature, I have seen in the papers, and I for your part in presenting the resolutions favoring my restoration to the retired list of the army, I wish now to thank you.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

The new Republican members of the next Senate, so far as chosen, are ex-Governor Stanford, of California, who takes Mr. Farley's place, Mr. Teller, who displaces Mr. Hill of Colorado, Mr. Evarts, who succeeds Mr. Lapham, Mr. Spooner, who takes the seat of Mr. Cameron of Wisconsin, and Mr. Chace of Rhode Island, who fills out the unexpired term of the late Senator Anthony. The new members of the Democratic side are Mr. James K. Jones, who displaces Senator Walker of Arkansas, Mr. Blackburn, who takes the place of Senator Williams of Kentucky, Mr. Eustis, who succeeds Senator Jonas of Louisiana, Judge Wilson, who takes the place of Senator Groome, of Maryland, and Mr. Henry B. Payne, who ousts Senator Pendleton, of Ohio.

A Testament was recently sent through the mail, says the Fairhaven Star, to Mrs. J. Bryant, corner of Purchase and Pearl streets, New Bedford, which was the property of John Bryant, who enlisted in Co. A, Eighteenth Massachusetts Volunteers, July 30, 1862, and was killed at the battle of Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 13, 1862. On a fly leaf was written: "Found on the battlefield of Fredericksburg, Va., on the morning of the 14th Dec., 1862. John Hughes, Sergeant, Co. G, 155th Regiment, P. V., Jan 11th, 1862." A slip of paper also bears the following: "Feb. 27th, 1864—found at Little Baltimore, Va., some time in Oct., 1863—Louis Margraff, Co. E., 1st Rifles, P. R. V. E.," and the direction was written in the same hand. Mr. Bryant's fate was long uncertain, but this Testament record determines it. Mr. Bryant had written his wife's address in the Testament as though having a premonition of his fate.

A Washington despatch says: The Democrats in the House begin to fear that an extra session of the XLIXth Congress is inevitable, and are already trying to create the impression that, if an extra session shall be convened, the Republicans will be responsible for it. The contrary is the fact. The delay in the public business which is necessary to be transacted before July 1, is wholly due to the procrastination of the Appropriations Committee of the House, which has held back its bills in a manner altogether without precedent, and allowed valuable time to be frittered away on measures of no special consequence. A majority of the Democratic majority, too, has resorted to filibustering to prevent action upon such important public measures as the Bankruptcy bill, the bills designed to preserve the National Banking system and measures looking to the suspension of the issue of silver certificates and the coinage of "buzzard" dollars. If an extra session shall be called the responsibility for it will rest wholly upon the shoulders of the Democratic majority of the House.

The Cabinet continues to be the absorbing topic of conversation among the Democratic Congressmen and Mr. Cleveland's course does not make them happy. The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: Cleveland does not seem to be of a confiding nature. The few who have enjoyed close relations agree that he made the visit to New York very much against his inclination. He wanted to call to him the men with whom he felt inclined to talk, but he was advised that such a course would arouse jealousy, that each Democrat in Congress would think himself as much entitled to be asked for counsel as any other. Yielding to this advice Cleveland issued a general invitation to Democrats to talk with him in New York, but this policy has caused much dissatisfaction. Some Democrats express the opinion that to summon the party leaders and have them passed in, shake hands and then pass out was an insult. Senator Saulsbury has criticised some of his friends for going to the reception, and has said he regarded it as beneath his dignity to accept such a general invitation. The Texas members of both Houses held aloof, and when one of them is asked if he visited the next President he says "No!" with an air of offended dignity. Cleveland is determined to pursue his own course, according to his own methods hereafter, hence the public notification that he is engaged and will not see visitors. It is said that Cleveland has been requested by the business interests of New York city to place the Treasury in the keeping of a man in sympathy with these interests. Mr. Whitney it is not believed will go in. He has been too importunate, and corporate interests have manifested too much anxiety to have him in the Cabinet. The impression seems to be growing that Lamar will go into the Cabinet. Notwithstanding the repeated denials of Indiana Democrats of any unpleasantness in their ranks, signs of lack of harmony have lately cropped out. It is probably true that Mr. Hendricks does not want McDonald in the Cabinet.

The letters posted annually in the world are 3,300,000,000.

The Mexican pension question is settled, the amended bill having passed the Senate yesterday.

Will Cleveland Order a Draft?

[New York Tribune.]

If the New York World is right, a terrible embarrassment is likely to fall with a dull thud on the Cleveland Administration. The World leaves its readers to infer from an article printed yesterday that Democrats are so backward in coming forward for offices that Mr. Cleveland may be compelled to order a draft in order to provide himself with a Cabinet and to fill other positions within his gift. It is just awful. Unless the World is mistaken the next President bids fair to find himself in a plight more pitiful than that in which any ruler has ever been placed since government was instituted among men.

It is commonly supposed that ever since election day Democrats from the Atlantic to the Pacific have been earnest and active in the pursuit of spoils. An impression is abroad that office-seekers personally or by proxy swarmed about Mr. Cleveland while he tarried in New York last week as thick as flies about a sugar hogshead. It is more than suspected that for the seven Cabinet positions alone there are seventy times seven applicants, with several States yet to be heard from. The telegraph has brought the news that Mr. Cleveland has been compelled to deny himself to the Hon. J. R. Doolittle, of Wisconsin. Nevertheless, the common belief must be an entire mistake, for the World—and of course the World ought to know—indicates that a deficit is impending, as follows:

The inauguration will take place in a little over two weeks, and there has been an unprecedented absence of office-seekers. The President has had a remarkably small number of applications, and the Democrats seem to have been pursuing their legitimate business just as steadily as if a Republican Administration was to be again fastened on the country.

Even in the formation of the Cabinet Mr. Cleveland has been troubled by few persistent applications. The friends of a few gentlemen have urged their selection probably, but the men most prominently mentioned for Cabinet positions have been more reluctant to accept than eager for the preferment.

There has been no scramble for office at all, either in Mr. Cleveland's own State or in the country at large.

Now it is necessary to the prosperity of the country that the machinery of government should be kept moving, and if Democrats will not volunteer for the Cabinet, the custom houses and the post offices, they must be drafted into the public service. The history of the late war shows that the Democratic party does not take kindly to drafts. Nevertheless, if Mr. Cleveland is the man his friends represent him, he will, after waiting a whole month, promptly perform this painful duty, and issue something like this:

A PROCLAMATION.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON, April 1, 1885.

A month has passed since the present Administration came in, but as yet, in the face of many cordial overtures, the President finds himself entirely destitute of a Cabinet. Several gentlemen whom he desired to fill Cabinet positions have fled to Canada. In view of this circumstance, and of another equally fraught with danger to the public weal, the loathing and contempt which Democrats have expressed during the last quarter of a century for "office-holders," especially "Federal office-holders," it is only too evident that no member of the party which elected me will accept a Cabinet portfolio, a Postmastership or the like, except on compulsion. Therefore and because no true theory of Civil Service Reform looks to Republicans necessarily holding all the Federal offices, a DRAFT of able-bodied Democrats of good moral character, between the ages of twenty-one and seventy, is hereby ordered. The Democratic committees of the different States are charged with the execution of this order. Each committee will forthwith levy upon 1,000 Democrats of the prescribed age and character and ship them to Washington without delay. No Mugwumps need apply.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

By the President:
DANIEL S. LAMONT, Private Secretary.

Points from the Press.

A GOOD SHOT.

[Nebraska State Journal.]

Carter Harrison's spread eagle has been shot through both wings by the Democrats of Illinois.

THE RESULT OF THE CONFERENCE.

[Philadelphia Press.]

Mr. Grover Cleveland is fast discovering that in a multitude of counselors is a crush of office-seekers.

A POPULAR CANDIDATE.

[Phila. North American.]

The unanimous renomination of Senator Logan by the Illinois Republican caucus, and the bold, manly position taken by that gentleman in his speech of acceptance, are two very strong points in his favor.

AN UNKNOWN QUANTITY.

[Worcester Spy.]

No former President has known upon his accession so few of the men with whom he must be associated for the next four years, and of no other President have the men who must support his administration in Congress and the Cabinet known so little.

JACK IN THE BOX.

[Syracuse Journal.]

The Democrats may find it a very huge undertaking to keep Mr. Hendricks down, if such is their purpose. He is irrepressible, he is in fact a "riser"—as they put it in one of the comic operas. He promises to be the most prominent Vice-President the Nation has yet had.

CEASED TO BE USEFUL.

[Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.]

No matter how widely Democratic opinion may vary as to whom Mr. Cleveland will place in his Cabinet, there is a most remarkable unanimity on one point, and that is with it "No Mugwumps need apply." They were good enough Democrats up to Nov. 5, 1884.

IS THE SPELL BROKEN?

[Philadelphia News.]

There is an awful rumor that Editor Pulitzer, of the World, did not confer with Cleveland at either his hotel or his dinner party during the first day of his stay in New York. Can it be that Mr. Cleveland's disinclination for the World is as great as Mr. Pulitzer's inclination for the Cabinet?

PEN PICTURE OF THE PROBABLE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

[Philadelphia Record, Dem.]

Mr. Daniel Manning is being boomed for the Secretaryship of the Treasury. Daniel Manning is a genial rural editor of vast abdominal resources, who has of late years "bossed" a very effective machine and published a very dull newspaper at Albany. His management of political affairs has been that of the spoilsman and the jobber, and his selection for so important a position by Mr. Cleveland would be about as wise an act as girdling one's loins with a cable of grapevine by way of preparation for a swim. The individuals who are conducting this "boom" should restrict themselves to a milder flight for a lengthened period. In the slang of the street, "it's a burnt of sdr."

Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I am an engineer on the Old Colony Railroad, [illegible] Fall River to [illegible] twice [illegible] For [illegible] years I [illegible] dyspepsia. Often I had such [illegible] [illegible] partly to irregular habits of eating [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] Finally [illegible] very [illegible] [illegible] in fact [illegible] felt as if [illegible] [illegible] surface [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] I traveled the country [illegible] every week [illegible] [illegible] should have [illegible] But I kept [illegible] until the [illegible] when I grew [illegible] [illegible] nothing [illegible] [illegible] at [illegible] life [illegible].

[illegible] I had tried every medicine [illegible] [illegible] treated by some of the [illegible] physicians in Taunton and Lowell. At this [illegible] DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY was recommended [illegible] [illegible] with my experience of medicine [illegible] can easily forgive me for saying [illegible] [illegible].

I had taken it but a few days when I began to [illegible] better. [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I was all right and I have been ever since. It [illegible] the only thing that ever [illegible] me the least good, [illegible] Now I keep Kennedy's Favorite Remedy [illegible] [illegible].

Why, I believe Favorite Remedy will [illegible] [illegible] a while ago [illegible] engineer [illegible] Boston [illegible] [illegible] sick as [illegible] [illegible] work had a high fever and I was [illegible] [illegible] Nonsense [illegible] I've got something [illegible] my engine that will set you up [illegible] [illegible] out my bottle of Favorite Remedy [illegible] and gave him a good dose. He went to bed [illegible] days after I saw him looking as healthy as [illegible] [illegible] Dan, [illegible] what was that stuff you gave me [illegible] right? It was Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, Rondout, N. Y. [illegible] Well I don't care who [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] DANIEL FITTS.

This preparation goes to the root of disease by purifying the blood and restoring every organ to [illegible] It is useful at home [illegible] in [illegible] everywhere.

The Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

BOSTON, Feb. 13. The fifth annual banquet of the Beta Theta Pi College Fraternity was held at Young's Hotel to-night. About seventy-five were in attendance, and responses to toasts were made by representatives of all New England Chapters.

Forty Eighth Congress—Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. The chair laid before the Senate a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, recommending that the meridian of Greenwich be adopted for all nautical and astronomical purposes, also a letter from J. Schuyler Crosby, Acting Postmaster General, upon the importance of securing possession of certain documents relating to the Post Office Department of the late Confederate States. The papers were referred.

Mr. Dawes, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Indian Appropriation bill, with amendments; placed on the calendar.

Mr. Ingalls said he had observed in certain quarters a statement that the Republicans of the Senate were endeavoring so to direct legislation as to compel an extra session. He asked Mr. Allison, Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, as to the condition of the appropriation bills.

Mr. Allison said the Military Academy bill was the only bill that had yet become a law, having been signed by the President. The District of Columbia bills, the Pension bill and the Consular and Diplomatic bill were now in the hands of a conference committee; the Army bill had passed the Senate yesterday, and the Indian bill had just been reported by the Senate Committee and would, he hoped, be considered by the Senate to-morrow. That left with the Senate Committee only the Agricultural bill, which would be ready for consideration Monday. The Post-office bill, Legislative, Executive and Judicial bill, Naval bill, Fortification bill, General Deficiency bill and Sundry Civil bill had not yet come to the Senate from the House. Of these the Post office bill was, he believed, now under consideration in the House. The Legislative bill had been reported to the House and was now on the House calendar. The pending Civil, Naval and Fortification bills have not yet been reported to the House from its Committee on Appropriations. So far as the Senate Committee was concerned, Mr. Allison said, he could assure the Senate that its work was, and would continue to be, well in hand and no delay would be caused by that committee. If the House would take one of the bills there would be no difficulty in the Senate.

In Mr Ingalls' judgment nothing could be worse for the country and all its various business interests than an extra session of Congress.

Mr. Hoar from the Committee on Privileges and Elections reported a resolution allowing Geo. E. Spencer, formerly Senator from Alabama, $7,112, being the amount of actual and necessary expenses in maintaining his title to a seat. On objection the resolution went over one day.

The Des Moines River Land bill was then taken up and Mr. Lapham proceeded to address the Senate. At one o'clock the matter went over one day, Mr Lapham retaining the floor.

The Texas Pacific land forfeiture bill is the pending special order, was laid before the Senate.

Mr Blair asked unanimous consent to take up the Anti-foreign Contract Labor bill.

Mr. Van Wyck declined to yield.

Mr. Blair moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the Labor bill.

Mr. Van Wyck asked the Chair if this would not displace the forfeiture bill and relegate it to the calendar.

The Chair said it would. Mr Van Wyck called for the yeas and nays on Mr. Blair's motion and it was agreed to, yeas 50, nays 10.

The Labor bill was therefore taken up and its consideration proceeded with. The Labor bill is the House bill. It prohibits any person or company from prepaying the importation of foreigners under an agreement to perform labor in the United States and makes void all contracts of that character. A penalty of $1,000 is fixed for the infraction of that provision. Ship masters are forbidden under a penalty of $500, to bring immigrants, who have made such agreements. Citizens of foreign countries, temporarily sojourning in the United States, are not amenable to the provisions of the bill so far as relates to private secretaries or domestic services.

The bill does not apply to cases of actors, professional singers, etc., nor is it so to apply as to prevent persons or corporations in engaging, in foreign countries workmen skilled in any industry not established in the United States, provided that skilled labor for that purpose cannot be otherwise obtained.

The bill further provides that it shall not be construed to prohibit any individual from assisting any member of his family or relation to immigrate to United States.

Considerable debate arose on the bill.

Mr Hawley thought third parts of the bill were in contravention of National rights and cited numerous instances in which he believed the bill would be injurious.

Mr. Blair had supposed the bill was in accord with the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the rights of mankind.

It was aimed, he said, not at immigration, but at slavery—at the introduction of servile labor. The wages of the working class should be protected from the effects of imported gangs of laborers. In the course of his remarks Mr. Blair alluded to the recent disturbances in Hocking Valley, which were attributed to the class of people this bill would exclude. These disturbances had already resulted in the loss of $1,000,000. Mr. Ingalls thought the bill was in a measure in the right direction. Mr. Bayard moved to strike out the section affecting ship captains. The discussion was continued at length by Messrs. Bayard, Sherman, Frye and others, but without action the Senate adjourned.

House.

The House met at 10, being a continuation of Thursday's session. The Senate amendments were concurred in to the House bill to prevent the unlawful occupation of public lands.

Mr. Willis, of Ky., moved that when the House went into Committee of the Whole on the River and Harbor bill, all debate on the pending section be closed in an hour and a half.

Mr Reed, of Me., raised the point that this motion was not in order, as it was competent for the House to close the debate on paragraphs of the bill which had not yet been read in committee.

The Speaker said this point would have been well taken if directed against general appropriation bills, but the River and Harbor bill has been repeatedly held to be neither, and the chair therefore overruled the point of order.

Mr Reed appealed from the decision. Such a ruling would establish a precedent of the most astonishing character, and one which must necessarily recoil on both sides of the House.

Mr. Long, of Massachusetts, called the attention of the House to the fact that if the principle involved in the decision of the Speaker was carried out, it would be in the power of any committee to put an entire bill in one section, and then cut off debate upon that section.

Mr Reed quoted from a debate which occurred in the Forty-seventh Congress, when a proposition was made to cut off debate on paragraphs of the tariff bill which had not been read, and considered, in order to show that Carlisle, Hammond, Randall, Cox and Blackburn had protested vigorously against the proposition, the latter characterizing it as more than manly and honorable. Nowhere in those speeches was he able to find that any distinction had been made between the general appropriation and the River and Harbor bills.

After further debate Mr. Willis moved to lay the appeal on the table; agreed to, yeas 131, nays 101; and then, though it was two minutes past 12, the House adjourned and was immediately called to order again in Friday's session.

Mr. Steele, of Indiana, moved to lay the resolution on the table; lost.

The Speaker laid before the House a number of Executive communications which were appropriately referred, among them being one from the Secretary of the Navy, asking legislation authorizing [illegible] expenditure for either of the cruisers of the balance of the appropriation for steam machinery for steel cruisers.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of business under the special rule.

A number of minor bills were passed under the rule, and at 2.10 the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Post-office Appropriation bill. Pending the question bearing on a point of order raised by Mr. Holman, of Indiana, against the paragraph allowing compensation to American steamships for carrying ocean mails, the Chair in rendering his decision, said, if it were proper to look upon Section 3,976, Revised Statutes, as existing law, there could be no difficulty in ruling upon the point of order, but the Chair was of the opinion that as the pending legislation did not take effect till January 1st next, all questions as to what was existing law must be determined with reference to that time.

Section 23 of the Dingley bill repealed Section 3,976, to take effect on the 1st of April next, and the chair would hold that the Dingley bill was the existing law. The chair overruled the point of order. He, however, ruled out that portion of the paragraph which provides that vessels engaged in this service shall be of American registry and shall in the time of war be liable to charter or purchase by the United States at reasonable rates. Mr. Holman, of Indiana, appealed from the decision of the chair, but the committee, 130 to 45 sustained the ruling.

Mr Holman then moved to strike out the paragraph and pass the amendment appropriating $425,000 for the transportation of foreign mails, including railroad transportation across the Isthmus of Panama and re-enacting for one year from July next Sections 3,976 and 4,203 Revised Statutes.

The provision contained in the bill proposed a direct subsidy to vessels, whether they carried a mail or not. No member who had been present on this floor some years ago and witnessed the memorable scene which occurred in reference to the Pacific Mail subsidy would ever wish to witness another such scene. Mr. Hunt, of Louisiana, defended the provision in the bill. Mr Blount, of Georgia, said with our present navigation laws we could not possibly hope to revive American commerce by this increase in mail compensation. This provision was simply an effort to increase the compensation of the few line now in existence.

At the end of a long debate Mr Holman modified his motion so as to move merely to strike out the provision without the insertion of the clause re-enacting sections 3,976 and 4,203 of the Revised Statutes. The motion was agreed to, 109 to 97, and [illegible] Democratic side.

Mr H[illegible], of Michigan, gave notice that he would demand [illegible] and nay vote in the House.

An amendment was adopted providing that the rate of drop letters, including delivery at letter-carrier offices, shall be two cents per ounce.

The Committee then rose and reported the bill to the House and the previous question having been ordered on the bill the House took a recess until 8 o'clock.

The House at the evening session passed several hundred and a dozen pension bills. At 10 o'clock the House took a recess until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Taking Care of the Survivors.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 12. Of the [illegible] lunatics confined in the Alms house [illegible] missing, but it is thought most of them have wandered away. At nine o'clock this morning two more charred bodies were found in ward No 2. They had been roasted beyond all recognition. Several human forms can be seen in the burning wreck in the cellar. It is now thought that twenty-eight inmates [illegible]

A number of offers have been received by the guardians of the poor from various institutions in the State, offering a temporary refuge to the unfortunate paupers. The Pennsylvania Railroad was prompt in offering the use of its old depot at 32d and Market streets. This offer was accepted and to-day nearly 400 of able-bodied male paupers are housed in the depot and made as comfortable as possible. This afternoon another body was found in the ruins, but it was so charred that recognition was impossible. The bodies of the victims were carefully laid in plain pine boxes and placed in rows in the dead house, where they were viewed by the coroner this afternoon. Most of those were horribly mutilated and some so charred that nothing but a [illegible] was left. An inquest will be held next week.

CRIME AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

Hung for Shooting his Brother in Law by Mistake for Another

PORTLAND, Oregon, Feb 13. James W. Murray, who laid in wait and assassinated his brother-in-law, Alfred Yorke, whom he mistook in the dark for another man whom he suspected of undue intimacy with his (Murray's) divorced wife, was hanged here this afternoon.

Another Fruitless Day in the Legislature—A Postponement of Balloting Until To-day

SPRINGFIELD, Feb 13. In the Senate, this morning Senator Whitney placed Gen Logan in nomination for United States Senator. A motion to proceed to ballot was defeated, owing to the refusal of Senator Ruger to vote. The Republicans were surprised at this action and claimed that on Senator Ruger's promise to vote for them they decided to bring up the motion for a ballot. At noon the Senate decided to join the House in joint session, and shortly afterwards fifty Senators joined 141 Representatives. Representative Parker nominated Gen Logan, and Mr Langer spoke for Col Morrison. He eulogized them both as soldiers, but endorsed Col Morrison's tariff views. When it came to vote in joint session, with one absentee on each side, both parties refused to vote and an adjournment was taken till noon tomorrow.

THE LATEST

The Number of Burned Thought not to Exceed Eighteen.

Eleven bodies were found to-day in the ruins of the burned Insane Asylum at Blockley Alms House. They were horribly disfigured, some of them being burned to a crisp. After a day's thorough search the Almshouse authorities are convinced that the [illegible] burned [illegible] inmates, all of whom occupied cells on the third floor of the building, are all that perished and that all of the other [illegible] inmates were rescued and are now in custody in both buildings. The investigation has as yet failed to show the slightest clue as to the cause of the fire.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A Reconnoitering Party Suffer for the Unprovoked Burning of an Arab Village.

SUAKIM, Feb 13. A small party of hostile Arabs re-appeared to-day near the garrison. A spy has returned from Hesheim, the place where the reconnoitering party of Hussars and Egyptians was attacked on the third inst. The Hussars got as far as Handub without opposition, but having on their way out burned a native village without reason they were attacked on their return at Hesheim, which is about three miles from Handub. The attacking party lay in ambush and the Arab fire was so terrible that the Hussars could not face it and saved themselves from annihilation by retreating at full gallop in a circle to Suakim. [illegible] Light Hussars and three Egyptians were lost. Col Freeman, commanding, reporting this incident said the officer in command of the Hussars had exceeded his authority in ordering the burning of the Arab village.

Spies were at once sent out to ascertain the fate of the missing troopers. The spy who has returned could learn nothing of it, but he found in the desert near the scene of the fight several articles of clothing which had evidently belonged to the missing men. The spy has fetched these articles to Suakim. They are all pierced as if by spears. The spy reports that he found the enemy encamped at Hesheim.

Eternal Vigilance the Price of Safety

LONDON, Feb 13. The police has been authorized to watch and search, and if necessary arrest persons visiting the new law court buildings.

Serious Charges Against the Home Government

LONDON, Feb 13. Conservative papers charge the Government with suppressing Gen Gordon's diary and letters, in which that officer stated that he sent Col Stewart away from Khartoum in order to save his (Stewart's) life, intending himself to meet death at Khartoum, as he knew no help could reach there in time to rescue him. When Parliament assembles the production of all the dispatches of the Government in regard to the Soudan campaign will be demanded. It is probable that the Ministers will decide to inform Canada and New South Wales that their assistance is not needed.

Return of the Canadian Nile Voyageurs

The Canadian voyageurs who were with the Nile expedition left Alexandria to-day on the steamer Poonah, which will convey them direct to Queenstown. Here they will embark on the steamer Hanoverian for home and will reach Quebec the first week in March. Dispatches from General Wolseley compliments the voyageurs for their services.

Decision in Law

The following decision in law has been received by Charles I. Swett, Esq., Clerk of Courts.

WASHINGTON CASE

Inhabitants of Machiasport vs. Samuel Small and als.

Rescript

The assessment, commitment and warrant introduced in evidence are insufficient to charge the collector upon his official bond for the taxes so committed to him and he is only holden for the taxes actually collected and not accounted for to the town treasurer.

The action is defaulted to stand for trial and the burden is upon the plaintiff to prove that the collector has received money for the taxes committed to him for collection, which he is unable under his plea of performance to prove that he has accounted for and paid to the town treasurer, when the penalty of the bond becomes forfeit and judgment should be entered therefor.

If judgment is entered for the penalty of the bond on motion of defendant the court is authorized to chancer the same and with the aid of suitable auditing officers fix the amount for which execution should issue.

Action to stand for trial.

Mrs. Hanscom thinks that she would be able to identify him. Every effort should be made to capture and bring him to justice.

FINE NEW MACHINES. At the foundry and machine shops of the Hinckley & Egery Iron Company a Whig representative was shown yesterday two very fine machines which have just been completed there. One of them was a [illegible] which [illegible] with two [illegible] and three movable saws. It has the improved [illegible] all the work [illegible] the shops of the company [illegible] extensive shops was seen [illegible] machine with [illegible] This machine will saw from whole logs, strips from one-fourth of an inch to two inches thick. [illegible] used in mills on the Penobscot. The company, notwithstanding the dull winter has kept its whole force employed and its works are a great benefit to Bangor.

YOUNG FOLKS' MASQUERADE. The masquerade in Music Hall last evening, which closed the course of Young Folks' assemblies, was one of the most successful ever given in Bangor. The floor was completely filled with dancers, and there were more spectators than the gallery could accommodate. The costumes were many of them very pretty, while others were grotesque and caused much merriment. There were fifty couples in [illegible] the grand march was led by Mr. Walter S. [illegible] and Miss Ellie Kerr and Mr. Henry [illegible] and Miss Mildred Vannum. After the fourth dance Miss Mildred Vannum gave a very graceful and pleasing dance and was obliged to repeat it to satisfy the audience. There were eighteen dances during the evening, and Music Hall has never held a more enjoyable party. The dances during the whole course have been most satisfactory, and to the managers, Messrs. W. A. Treat and Charles H. Glass, is due much credit for their success. Last night Mr. W. A. Treat was floor director and the aids were Charles H. Glass, S. H. Downs, D. V. Towle and John F. Woodman. The managers have decided to give a course of four more dances, with a limited number of tickets.

ODD FELLOWS SOCIABLE. The second sociable of Penobscot Lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F., held in Odd Fellows' Hall, last evening, was a very largely attended and successful affair. The spacious hall with the numerous ante-rooms were filled with the members and their wives and friends. An entertainment given during the evening added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. The following was the programme: Song, by the Apollo Quartette; reading, by Miss Rosella Blanchard; song, by Miss Spratt; song, by the Apollo Quartette; whistling solo, by Master Campbell; reading, by Miss Blanchard; song, by the Apollo Quartette; reading, by Miss Blanchard; song, "Peter Gray," by the Apollo Quartette. Every selection was enthusiastically encored. Miss Blanchard read in her usual pleasing manner and the audience were delighted, as all audiences are, with the Apollo Quartette. After the entertainment a fine supper was served by the ladies in the banquet hall, which was followed by dancing and other amusements. To the committee of arrangements, Messrs. J. F. Booth, G. W. Vickery and W. E. Mansur, is due much credit for the success of the occasion.

Mrs. Mary M. Cushing, one of our oldest residents, died on Thursday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles S. Osgood, on Kenduskeag Avenue, at the advanced age of eighty five years. Mrs. Cushing was also the mother of Mrs. L. J. Morse. She was formerly a resident of Bath.

DEPARTURE OF HON. HANNIBAL HAMLIN. Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, accompanied by his wife, has gone to New York city, where he will attend the eightieth anniversary of David Dudley Field's birthday, which occurs to-morrow. The following day Mr. Hamlin will proceed to Washington, to be present at the ceremonies and the celebration of the completion of the Washington monument. Mr. Hamlin is one of the five survivors of the United States Senate who were present at the laying of the corner stone of the monument. The other four survivors are James W. Bradbury of Augusta, Alpheus Felch of Michigan, R. M. T. Hunter of Virginia, and Jefferson Davis of Mississippi. Mr. Hamlin will be the guest, while in Washington, of Gardiner G. Hubbard and Senator Hale.

COMMUNICATION.

The Bangor Schools

Mr. Editor: It was with a deal of satisfaction that I read the communication in the Whig from the [illegible] corner.

I am certain that a few parents in Bangor will echo the sentiment, that at last, some one who have children to attend school see it to be the [illegible] of many. The fact that we are obliged to send our children to school in the most inclement weather, to sit in damp clothing three hours, and worse yet to endure the anxious mental strain that, [illegible] for all of this exposure they will [illegible] more than grown people could endure. In fact so great is the anxiety with my children [illegible] sick or well they must go not because of the loss of a lesson but a falling in rank as the result.

It is right that we should have a standard of scholarship in our schools, and it is true that some scholars are [illegible] badly to meet the requirements but the majority find it very hard to [illegible] to get (as they say) 8 or 9 in all their studies, and if they fall below 7, [illegible] going home to the parents that [illegible] satisfactory work.

Now if the child must study at home, as well as six hours in school, why? To come up to the standard [illegible] our committees and teachers decree.

The practice of placing ten examples on the blackboard to be worked in one hour and ten minutes each with no help from the teacher, even though the child does not [illegible] the principle, and no knowledge as to what the result should be, is [illegible] the wrong way to instruct children in arithmetic.

In the [illegible] the child who is blessed with the best memory is the one that can [illegible] the child [illegible] a few sentences, [illegible] so much [illegible] and the child thinks, not that something [illegible] that was not known [illegible] but that [illegible] will result in low marking at the end of the week. [illegible] children ask [illegible] the child does not know [illegible] everything [illegible] sent there to be taught [illegible]

[illegible] wrong somewhere which ought to be righted. A

AMUSEMENTS

Nobody's Claim

[illegible] now on sale at the box office for "Nobody's Claim," which will be given at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings. The Boston Globe says:

"Mr. Dowling and Miss Hasson carried the audience by storm. The Ward Dever was shown by the former [illegible] daring and indomitable soldier who combined the courage of a hero in battling the first wrong with the gentleness of a woman in pitying and aiding the defenceless and weak. Every inch a soldier, and [illegible] a gentleman in his assumption of the character which was natural and in all ways satisfactory. Not less natural and in all ways pleasing was the Madge of Sadie Hasson. To draw the dividing line between too coarse [illegible] and too weak a one [illegible] as to fulfill the idea of the author is a task requiring some skill. To do this so as to give all the flavor of wildness in the outset, and yet not make too abrupt a transition to more refined life at the close, is still more difficult, but from first to last Sadie Hasson not only pleased the crowded house, but was true to nature."

Notes

Hi Henry's Minstrels will be heartily welcomed back to Bangor.

"Not a dime show, but a show for a dime" is a coming attraction.

OUR ORONO LETTER

Visit of D. D. G. M. Hiram Stevens, to Mechanics Lodge—A Remonstrance to the Bodwell Water Power Bill—A Frightful Accident—Other Items.

Our correspondent (F. F. A.) writes: D. D. G. M., Hiram Stevens, of Carroll, made an official visit to Mechanics' Lodge, F. & A. M., Thursday evening, and witnessed the working of the lodge on the first degree. He expressed himself as well pleased at the large number of brethren present and complimented them upon the correctness of their work. Bro. Stevens made a very pleasing impression upon the members of the lodge and will always be welcome. At the close of the work, the brethren were invited to a bountiful repast. The exercises were very interesting and all present had a fine time. Seven took the degree of "Humility" in due form, with musical accompaniment by Brother Powers. Brothers Rolfe, Given and Colburn, were the very efficient committee of arrangements.

Miss Bertha Bond, of Orono, a talented musician is giving lessons on the piano and organ. She has been a diligent student in music and has the ability to impart correct and systematic instruction upon the piano.

A long petition or remonstrance to the so called, "Bodwell water power bill" is being rapidly filled out by the citizens of Orono, irrespective of party, and will be immediately forwarded to Augusta.

The sparring match at the Orono Town Hall Wednesday night for the benefit of James Dawson, could hardly be called a success financially, the receipts barely paying expenses.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. L[illegible] left her two children, one six years of age and the other younger, in the house alone. Shortly after she had left smoke was seen issuing from one of the windows by men fishing on the [illegible] and hearing cries of distress they rushed up to the house, broke in the window, and found the room filled with smoke and the oldest child, a girl, dead and burned to a crisp, and the younger one quite badly burned. It is thought that their clothing caught fire while playing around the stove.

Stanley's First Case.

...ETHEL STANFORD.

...fire in Portland brought suffering and poverty into many homes, but ...was it more keenly felt than in the ...ly of Mr. Stanley. Both store and ...ing house had disappeared, and the ...insurance on both was barely enough ...y his debts, leaving his family unprovided for except by his daily labor, and ...t brought in but little. The health of ...Stanley was greatly impaired by the ...k of the fire, and the privations and ...d work which followed were too much ...her constitution, and at last she sickened and died, leaving her two little girls, ...in delicate health, to the care of an old ...se who had previously lived with them. ...te, the oldest of the girls, was a bright, ...pulsive creature, with sparkling, dark ...s, and with a wealth of brown hair, ...ich fell in curls to her shoulders. Her ...ger Lena, had been a delicate child from ...th, and as she grew older, it was found ...t she was growing deformed, and by ...time she was three years old, was what ...alled humpbacked. Great was the love ...sting between the two sisters, and no ...knew how many hours Kate's strong, ...ing arms had held her suffering sister, ...en her mother lay sick, and hushed her ...ful moans, lest they should disturb ...r mother.

...fter living some time in a state bordering on poverty, a situation was offered Mr. ...nley, by a Boston firm, as commercial ...aveler, and thankfully accepted. As he ...uld be away so much from home, he ...ided to send the children to a widowed ...ter of his, who lived across the border, ...small town in Ontario.

...dding good-bye to the kind nurse who ...looked after them since their mother's ...th, they accompanied their father to ...future home in C——.

...s. Murray received her nieces with so ...h kindness, they felt they had come to ...me instead of into a strange place. ...after Mr. Stanley had made all other ...arrangements for their comfort, as ...as his limited resources permitted, he ...quired about the school privileges to be ...d in the town. He found that the only ...ool in the place, was in charge of a Mr. ...ce, and though all gave him the name ...being an excellent teacher, his ungovernable temper made him unfit to have the ...ntrol of children. Mr. Bruce had established an ideal school, and to get his ideal ...hool up to the standard of his ideal one, ...s his object and ambition. While all ...nt smooth in the school-room, lessons ...fectly recited, and perfect order prevailed, he was all that one could wish in ...acher; but, being a mixed school, made ...of children of all ages and sizes, that ...orm which he considered necessary, ...s often broken, and those who had once ...ken any of his many rules, were slow ...forgetting the punishment inflicted for ...

...d any of the parents witnessed the ...sions into which he would get over the ...al offenses, which the quietest of ...ren are liable to make, he would have ...considered a fit subject for a lunatic ...lum, such was his insane fury when ...sed. It may be expected that Mr. ...rray hesitated about placing his children in a school where the severity of the ...ishments were everywhere known and ...ken of, but he considered that likely ...stories of his punishments were exaggerated by the children, and if his daughters were as careful as he thought them, ...s not likely they would be in any ...s. However, after seeing Mr. Bruce ...paying for a year's tuition in advance, ...gave him special injunctions not to ask ...much of his little deformed daughter, ...if she could not keep up with the others ...her studies, he was to pass it over ...account of her delicate health. Having ...ttled about their schooling, he left them ...charge of their aunt, Mrs. Murray, and ...rted.

...was soon seen that Kate and Lena ...nley were among the best scholars in ...respective classes, and by being attentive and careful, they escaped the teacher's anger. Lena was not so repulsive an ...ject as many in the same condition, for ...making her dresses loose, and by allowing her beautiful and abundant hair to ...l loosely over her shoulders, it almost ...her deformity, and few, even among ...own classmates, realized how weak ...d puny was the frame beneath. She ...s very fond of her books, but her favorite studies were writing and arithmetic, ...she wanted to try and make herself ...mpetent to take a place in her father's ...k, to write and keep his accounts for ...n, when he began business again for ...self.

...ut matters were not always going to ...so smoothly with the Stanley girls. One of the rules which was strictly enforced, was that not a particle of ink must ...be spattered or spilled anywhere, a copy book free from blots must be shown him when the book was filled. How many there were, who accidentally or otherwise, broke this rule, I will leave the reader, who is acquainted with the average school children, to imagine.

One day as they were preparing their books to write, Lena's deskmate in taking out her book, accidentally touched the inkstand that Lena had just placed on the desk, sending the ink in a black streak across Lena's copy book and down to the floor. A look of dismay came into Lena's face, and the remembrance of the punishment she had seen inflicted on others, for far less mischief done, made her heart faint with fear.

Mr. Bruce caught the look, and, seeing the ink on the floor, was down the aisle to her side in a moment. The anger which shone on his face was fearful to see. "You young wretch," said he, catching her by the arm, and forgetting in his anger her deformity and weakness, "I'll learn you to spill ink over your book," and before the terrified child could utter a word to explain, she was dragged up the aisle to the platform, the master inflicting sundry cuffs to each side of her head as he went. As he reached over the table for the rod, to give her the usual penalty attached to the great crime of spilling ink, a movement among the scholars made him turn round, and Kate stood at his side, her face ablaze with indignation and fury.

"Drop that stick! You dare take that stick to my little sister," and she stood before him her eyes flashing fire.

"Go to your seat this moment, Miss," ...id the now infuriated master, as he seized the stick, "how dare you interfere with ...me. I'll teach the young idiot to defy my ...les," and the uplifted rod fell, but not ...on the deformed back he intended it should, but on the head and shoulders of Kate, who in her efforts to shield her sister, had thrown her arms about her, and covered her as well as she could, with her own body.

By this time the school was in an uproar, but a few quick and well directed blows right and left, soon quelled the fire of indignation among the scholars.

"Go back to your seat," he shouted to Kate. "You shall pay dearly for your interference."

"You shall not beat my little sister," she cried. "I am willing to take all the punishment, hers as well as my own; but you shan't beat her if I can help it."

In vain the master tried to pull her arms from around her sister's body.

"Oh! spare my poor sister's back," she cried. "Remember her sore back," she repeated in her agony.

"I'll warrant it will be sore enough when I'm done with her," and taking a tighter hold of Lena's arm, which he was almost crushing in his strong grasp, he determined to make short work of it; and short work it was, for as the blows descended, sometimes on Kate, and sometimes on the parts of poor Lena's body that her sister could not shield, the poor, worn frame could bear it no longer, and Lena fell fainting to the floor.

"Oh! my poor Lena! My dear sister, has he killed you?" she cried, forgetting her own bruises, in her anxiety for her sister, as she dropped on her knees beside her. In the awful silence which reigned for a few minutes in the school room, Mr. Bruce seemed to regain his senses, and he realized what he had done to the child.

"I did not mean to hurt her so much," he began, "I think she has only fainted."

But Kate paid no heed to his words, but taking Lena up in her arms as easy as if she were a baby, she carried her out to the door, and sitting on the steps, began to chafe her hands, and seeing at last that life was returning, she turned to the master who had followed her to the door, and said,

"If there is a law in this country that can reach you, you shall pay dearly for this day's work," and taking Lena tenderly in her arms went swiftly home.

During the course of the following day, the teacher was handed a note from the father of Lena's deskmate, Bessie Jones, which read as follows:

"Dear Sir—My little girl, Bessie, who is desk mate with Lena Stanley, wishes me to explain for her, the cause of the deplorable accident which happened yesterday. In taking out her book from the desk she unintentionally upset the inkstand, and she insists that she is the sole cause of the accident. As you have already punished two children severely for the offence, you can scarcely expect me to be willing you should punish Bessie now, for it. I am sorry Bessie had not sufficient courage yesterday, to announce herself the culprit; she would have been better able to bear the punishment than the ones on which it was inflicted. Yours, ... Jones."

The receipt of this letter had anything but a soothing effect on Mr. Bruce, and he was more disturbed when during the afternoon session, Kate made her appearance in the school room, and without speaking to or noticing any one, went to her own and Lena's desk, and taking the books belonging to both, passed out of the school room.

"How is Lena," said a little girl who met her in the hall.

"Lena is dying," was the reply.

But Lena did not die, the shock of the brutal treatment she received was severe, but in a few days, she was able to be out of bed.

Great was the excitement in the town, when it was whispered around that Mr. Bruce was to be taken before the police court, at the instigation of Mrs. Murray, for ill-treating her nieces.

Mr. Bruce had so long held the position of teacher, and they had grown so accustomed to his "tantrums," that they almost forgot he did not have full control over their children's bodies, or that any measures might be taken to check his many outbursts. The children openly rejoiced at the idea of his being taken up, and many were the tricks resorted to to show him they were glad of the scrape he had got himself in, for the most of them had at some time, felt the weight of his stick across their own backs.

"I hope the policeman will come to take him, himself," said one little urchin.

"Hi! boys! won't it be fun to see him himself taken by the police for once," said another.

The first day Lena was able to be out, the master was served with a summons to appear before the police court on a charge of assault.

Kate had never been inside of a police court, and knew very little of the forms of law, but she was determined to show the people how the master had treated them if nothing else.

The court house was full, every parent who had children going to school, wished to be present, to see what would be the effect of such an unheard of thing as to arrest the master for whipping or beating the scholars.

She thought all she had to do was to state the facts of the case, and justice would be done her. But justice is a rare thing truly. It was in this case anyway; and when she had fully explained the cause of the trouble, the lawyer whom the master had employed, said:

"Well, I don't see that Mr. Bruce has overstepped his bounds, when he punished for disobeying the known rules of the school in regard to the spilling of ink."

"But the fault was not Lena's," said Kate, who had not thought it necessary to have a lawyer. "I can bring Bessie Jones to prove it was her own self that did it, and the master never waited for any explanation at all, and besides father gave strict injunctions, that she was not to be harshly treated. Now who would treat a deformed child so?"

"The rules of the school are for all sorts and conditions of children, and none should be made an exception of," said the lawyer.

Poor Kate began to think her case was hopeless, but she saw that the sympathy of the people present was with her, and she determined to make one more effort. Turning to the magistrate, a fine white haired man, she said: "I have often heard of British love of justice and fair play, but I see it is not known here. I am proud to say that I belong to a country where justice and fair play is not only known, but practised, but not only towards men, but to women as well. I would not need to stand up myself in an American court house, and ask redress for usage like this," and as she spoke the words, she caught Lena in her arms, and in a few moments, stood her on the seat beside her, naked to the waist. A cry of horror was heard through the room. Such a sight none present had ever seen, the bruises on her arms showed too plainly where the teacher had grasped her; and the rounding chest and deformed back, was a sight not soon forgotten by those who saw it.

"Do I need ask any one here, if they would like to see any one belonging to them, whose body was like that," she said, pointing to Lena, "exposed to the temper of a man like Mr. Bruce? I do not care for the blows I received myself, but I ask any one here, if they could stand and see any child like that, beat or otherwise ill-treated, and not try to prevent it."

"I think," said the magistrate, turning to Mrs. Murray, "you have just cause for complaint. I did not realize the injury that had been done; not only must there be compensation given for the assault, (I can call it by no other name), but you, Mr. Bruce, must give a guarantee that nothing like this will happen again, or else give up the school. It is clearly shown that a man with such a temper is not suitable to rule children."

When the case was closed, Kate and Lena were surrounded by the women who pressed forward to speak to them, and Lena who had been sobbing and crying, was soothed into quietness.

"She did not like it because I exposed her poor back," she explained to a lady standing near, "but I saw they did not realize the condition she was in or they would not be so hard-hearted."

"You have done us all a favor," said one, "my little Teddie has come home many times black and blue from the beatings he received, and I thought he must have been doing something very bad indeed, or he would not have received such a whipping."

The lawyer was exceedingly mortified at the turn affairs had taken, for when he undertook the case, he understood it was Kate herself, who had received the beating, and her independent ways had always annoyed him, and he thought to "take her down a peg," and when he discovered his mistake, he was obliged to make the best he could of it, but he had the good grace to come forward to Kate and tell her, she had the right on her side, and that she had done well.

"I did not understand it was your little sister that received the beating," he said, making a clumsy attempt at an apology, "or I would not have undertaken the case. I congratulate you on your success; you would make a good lawyer!"

"Thank you," said Kate, coldly, "I intend to be one by and by, but I shall never try and shield the guilty, or oppress the weak," and she gave him a look he quite understood.

There was great rejoicing among the scholars, when, a few weeks later, a new teacher made his appearance, who not only proved an excellent teacher, but a kind, Christian gentleman.

Mr. Bruce could not give up his ideal school, so had to go somewhere else to have it, and few regretted his departure.

Mr. Stanley chose a western city for his new home, when he at last had accumulated sufficient capital to begin business again, and Lena is proud of the position she holds of book-keeper in her father's establishment.

The position which Kate Stanley had been educating herself for, she has filled for some time, and at the present time she is one of the best lady lawyers to be found in the West, and she is looked up to and loved by a large circle of friends, but she often recalls the incidents connected with her first case in court.

Cuticura

THE GREAT SKIN CURES

Mrs. Smith's Case, and what the Rev. Mr. McKinstry has to say about it.

To the Public: I have been a fearful sufferer for fifteen years, most of the time with what has been called Eczema or Salt Rheum, Psoriasis and Leprosy, and the like, and I have always been told that there was no cure for me, and have been so discouraged that I had no confidence ... I have been so badly afflicted sometimes that there was not the smallest spot from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet that was not diseased and as red as crimson. It would commence in small white spots, which had a silvery appearance, but were not, long, but if I attempted to heal them, or soon after their first appearance, they would come ... together until there was a complete fiery, red scale, which would become so inflamed as to crack and look fiery and angry, and the burning sensation would be almost intolerable.

I was at times so lame that I could scarcely get about, and could not dress myself without assistance. I have tried many remedies, and have paid $100 in a single instance to a physician, but have ... obtained only temporary relief. Although helped for a time, I soon relapsed again to be as badly troubled as ever, and during the winter of 1881 and 1882 I suffered so much as to be ... discouraged. Last June, however, I was advised by Elder and Mrs. McKinstry, who are well known in these regions, to try your Cuticura Remedies, and I felt somehow a little courage, from their favorable opinion of them, to try their virtue. About the second week of July last, I commenced using the remedies, and within six weeks I began to see a permanent improvement, until now (Oct. 1) I am about as good as new, and my flesh is as the flesh of a child.

MRS. ... SMITH.

I certify that the above statement of my wife is correct, and I join with her in expressing my gratitude for the great benefit she has received.

B. SMITH.

I certify that the above statement is correct. Mr. Smith is a prominent man in this community, where he lives. ... and his statement, with that of his wife, is fully entitled to credit.

Done at Stanstead, Province of Quebec, this twenty-seventh day of October, 1882.

L. C. McKINSTRY,
Minister of the Gospel.

Later.—I have seen Mrs. Smith recently, and believe her to be thoroughly and permanently cured.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "... St., New York, ...

... My father ...

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

has been in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years, but it did not show, except in the form of a ... on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
late Commissioner of Patents."

Boston, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

STATE OF MAINE.

PENOBSCOT, ss. — Court of Insolvency.

In the case of Joseph ... Mayo, Insolvent Debtor.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has, on this thirty first day of January, A. D. 1885, been presented to said Court for said County, by Joseph ... Mayo, of Bangor, in the County of Penobscot, praying that he may be decreed a full discharge from all his debts, provable under Chapter seventy of the Revised Statutes of the State of Maine, and upon said petition, it is ordered by said Court that a hearing be had upon the same before said Court, at the Probate Court Room in Bangor, in said County of Penobscot, on Thursday, the 5th day of March, A. D. 1885, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier, a newspaper published in said County of Penobscot, once a week for two successive weeks, the last publication to be seven days at least before the day of hearing; and that all creditors who have proved their debts, and other persons interested, may appear at said place and time, and show cause, if any they have, why a discharge should not be granted said debtor according to the prayer of his petition.

Attest: AMBROSE C. FLINT,
Register of said Court for said County of Penobscot.
